3 ATTEND SYMPOSIUM

Jim Bates, G. F. Senior, attended a symposium last weekend along with Jeanne Broley of the Zoology Department and Vic Granada of P&P at Rochester. The subject of the symposium (pipe that polysyllabic monstrosity) was MAN'S LOYALTIES AND THE AMERICAN IDEAL. Representatives of all the units of the State University of New York family were present, and national and international figures were featured speakers. 15 of our faculty attended.

NEWS FROM EMPIRE FORESTER

By unanimous vote of the senior staff of the Empire Forester, Bob Lindeman has been chosen editor of the 1952 yearbook. Bob is the editor of the Camp Log in this year's issue. Other members of the '52 staff have not been chosen as yet. Oh yes. This year's E.F. should be out about the third week in May.

Well, we finally revived this rag, after 6 or 7 weeks leave of absence from the journalism fields. Here is some dirt we've scooped up for you: Prof. Donald White of the Silviculture Department, has become the proud papa of a "dirt" forester, and Bob Hitchings, P&P instructor, has a new feminine mouth to feed at home. Ken Brose and his wife have a new boss at their home, a boy. Likewise for one Dick Goodrich and his missus. Phil Bauer and Jack Bauer have Home Ec. majors for some future class and Rodger Thompson has a boy addition to the family.

IN SPRING

In spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts that his girl has been thinking all year long. So goes it with the beau of Miss Helen McArdell, secretary in the Forest Management Department. They are planning on dodging August confetti.

We have been repeatedly informed that a certain Georgia Peach has a senior dirt forester in her spell. We should all live so long! Maybe there's something to G.F. after all.

ERRATUM

In our Feb. 21 issue we stated that no one in the whole darn college made a 3.0. Would'nt you just know that some screw would bob up with a stack of perfect grade cards? Well, he's John Brooks, a junior in P & P. Congratulations, John, 'cause P & P ain't no snap!

ARMY?

Sarge: How come a smart guy like you is in the army?
G. Buschle: First, I wanted to do my duty to my country. Second, I thought it would build me up physically. Third, they came and got me.

GIRLS

We have a nodding acquaintance with a girl. Everytime we ask her for a date she says "Nodding doing."
